Risk Management for Business

Goldman Environmental Consultants, Inc. (GEC) has experience in risk management for both domestic and international clients. We offer services to evaluate multi-media, interagency, and compliance issues associated with the manufacturing process. GEC's experienced staff of former regulators, engineers, and scientists will work with the goals of our clients to produce cost-effective and responsive risk management services.

OUR APPROACH TO RISK MANAGEMENT FOR BUSINESS

GEC's holistic approach to risk management begins with understanding your company's product design and manufacturing methods. With your business goals in mind, GEC will develop a strategy to achieve these objectives while targeting the environmental health and safety (EHS) and liability requirements of the design, process, and operation. GEC will use its specialized knowledge in technical areas such as pollution prevention and health risk assessment to identify ways to reduce your company's risks (e.g. EHS and potential liability costs).

GEC'S EXPERIENCE

GEC staff has completed risk management projects for four international clients and many domestic clients. Our clients include major banks, law firms, insurance companies, and manufacturers of products such as chemicals, biotech electronics, pulp and paper, and computer media.

BENEFITS TO YOUR COMPANY

With GEC's help, your company can operate in the global economy with reduced liability. Improve your product quality while minimizing waste. We can help reduce your operation costs, increase profits, and improve your image by managing risk and contributing to a clean environment.
